

NORDIC LIGHTS

"Aurora Borealis"

NORDIC LIGHTS PHENOMENON

❑ Scientific Explanation:

- Auroras are the result of disturbances in the Earth's magnetosphere caused by the solar wind. Major disturbances result from enhancements in the speed of the solar wind from coronal holes and coronal mass ejections.
- These disturbances alter the trajectories of charged particles in the magnetospheric plasma. These particles, mainly electrons and protons, precipitate into the upper atmosphere (thermosphere/exosphere).
- The resulting ionization and excitation of atmospheric constituents emit light of varying colour and complexity. The form of the aurora, occurring within bands around both polar regions, is also dependent on the amount of acceleration imparted to the precipitating particles.

❑ Best Viewing Conditions:

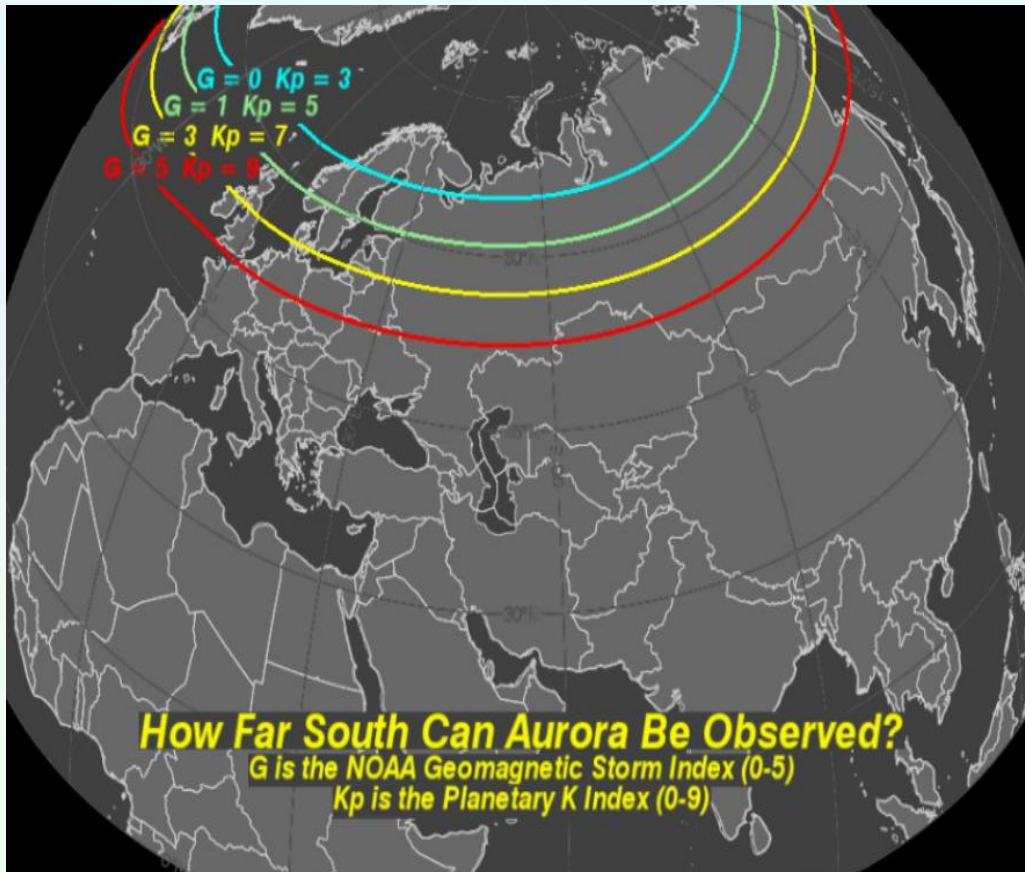

- Peak time is often between 11pm – 2am
- Between the autumn and spring equinox (September21 – March21).
- To see the Northern Lights, you need a clear, dark sky with minimal light pollution, and ideally, a location near the Arctic Circle
- (December - January is the darkest part of winter & the weather is dried up)

❑ Occurrences:

- The region of the “Auroral Oval” (Aurora Zone).
- It is visible from areas around the Arctic such as Alaska, Canada, Iceland, Greenland, the Faroe Islands Scandinavia, Finland, Scotland and Russia.

AURORAL OVAL

The level of geomagnetic activity (Kp) you need to see the northern or southern lights depends on your geomagnetic coordinates.

Aurora forecast: <https://www.swpc.noaa.gov/communities/aurora-dashboard-experimental>

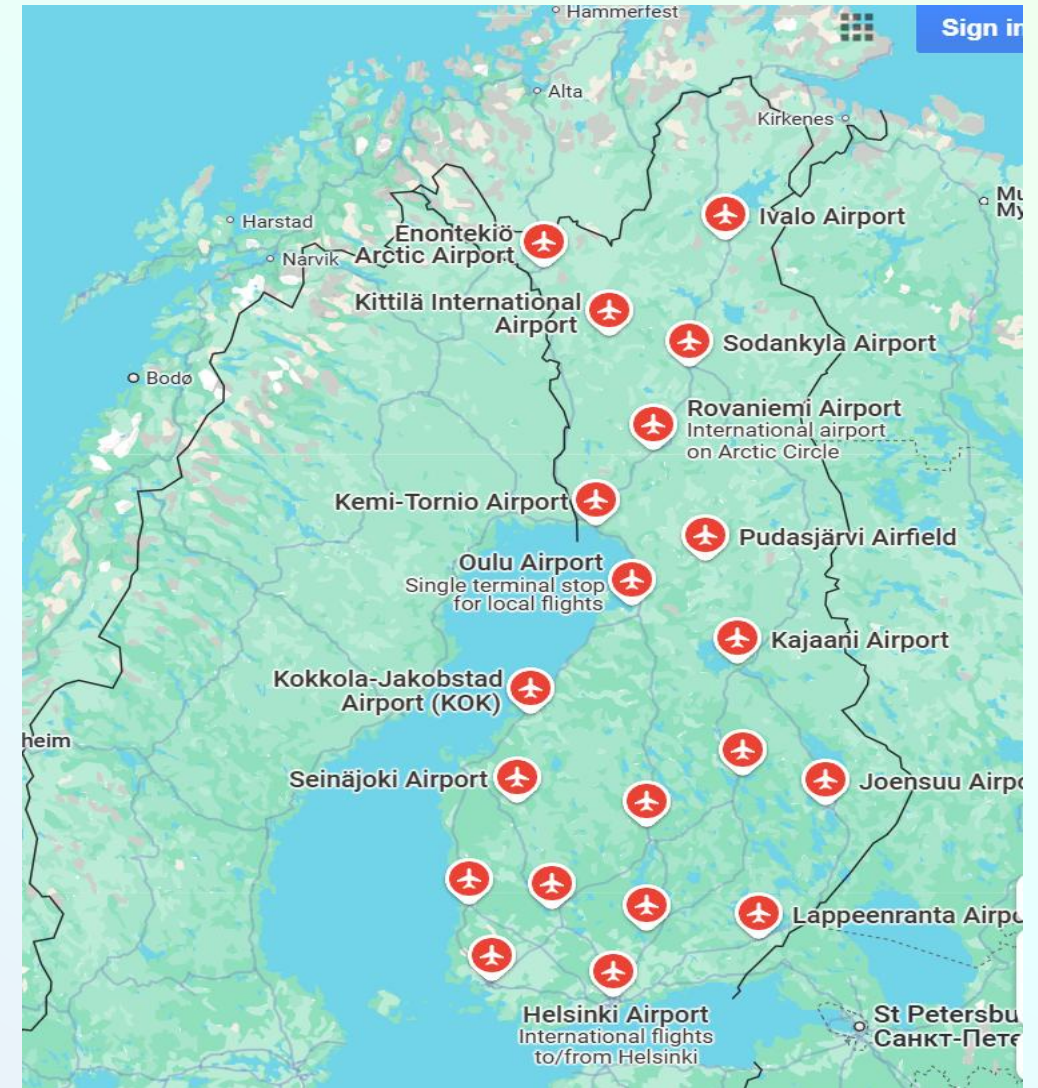

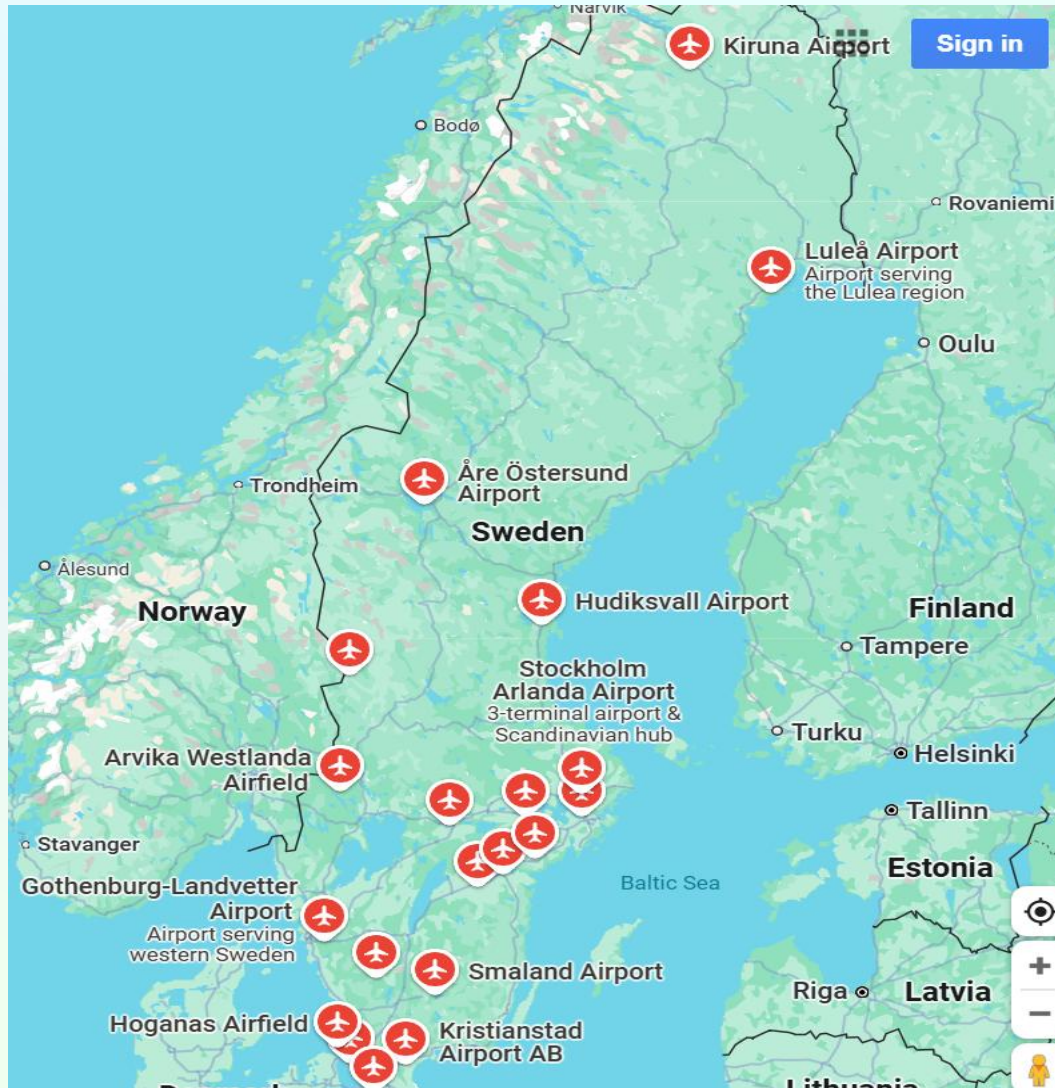

What Kp you need to see the aurora at famous northern lights photography regions:

	min Kp required for the location
<input type="checkbox"/> Canada
▪ Churchill	Kp0 / Kp0
▪ Whitehorse	Kp2 / Kp0
▪ Yellowknife	Kp0 / Kp0
<input type="checkbox"/> Alaska
▪ Fairbanks	Kp1 / Kp0
<input type="checkbox"/> Iceland
▪ Reykjavik	Kp2 / Kp0
<input type="checkbox"/> Finland
▪ Rovaniemi	Kp2 / Kp0
▪ Levi	Kp1 / Kp0
<input type="checkbox"/> Sweden
▪ Kiruna	Kp1 / Kp0
<input type="checkbox"/> Norway
▪ Tromso	Kp0 / Kp0

The Kp-index describes the disturbance of the Earth's magnetic field caused by the solar wind. The faster the solar wind blows, the greater the turbulence. The index ranges from 0, for low activity, to 9, which means that an intense geomagnetic storm is under way.

FYI: A Kp level of 2 means low display of lights even in suitable locations. Kp4 is usually when an active display of colorful lights starts.

GOOD TO KNOW FOR THE BEST EXPERIENCE

- During the day Icehotel is open to the public. Day visitors and guests have access to see all the rooms, except reserved Deluxe Suites. This means overnight guests get their rooms at 6 pm.
- Check-in and out for warm rooms is at 3 pm and 11 am.
- All rooms in Icehotel Winter have curtain doors, while the Art and Deluxe Suites in Icehotel 365 all have doors.
- There are no bathrooms (except the Deluxe Suites) or storage in the Ice rooms or Art suites. These facilities are housed in a heated service building, where you also keep your belongings during the night. The service desk is staffed 24 hours.
- You get a locker or cubicle (if staying in an Art Suite), where you can get changed and keep your belongings.
- The changing rooms, sauna and showers are communal for women and men respectively.
- There are no electric sockets to charge your phone inside the cold room, so be sure to charge your phone before going to bed.
- If you're changing between ice suites and warm accommodation, there are about 6-7 hours when you don't have a room to withdraw to. We strongly recommend you to plan one or two excursions during this time as exploring nature and local culture is a substantial part of getting the full experience.

When staying in an ice room or in one of the art suites you store your belongings in a locker or booth in the warm service building which is staffed 24 hours, located just meters from the hotel. The Deluxe suites 365 has a private bathroom with shower and toilet directly connected to the bedroom. The heated relaxation area also provides storage for your belongings

WHAT SHOULD I DO WHEN I'M THERE?

Icehotel is carefully designed and handcrafted by artists from around the world so make sure to explore the art in the hotel. Roam amongst the beautiful ice sculptures and experience the magical setting in all rooms.

We recommend that you book activities to get the most of your holiday. Dog sledding, skiing or snowmobiling in winter, or river rafting and cycling in summer, takes you into the vast uninhabited boreal forest. Fishing, midnight sun and northern lights safaris are amazing ways to experience the Arctic. Joining a class with one of our master ice sculptors is of course a must!

AROUND AND ABOUT ICEHOTEL

The hotel is located in the heart of the tiny village Jukkasjärvi, with about 900 residents. Besides the actual ice hotel with rooms filled with ice art, ice bar and ceremony hall made of ice, Icehotel has a restaurant, cabins, hotel rooms and lounge – all housed in warm buildings within walking distance of each other. In winter there are 53 Ice rooms, Art Suites and Deluxe Suites and in summer there are 18. All year round we have seventy warm rooms; 44 hotel rooms and 28 chalets. There is also the local homestead restaurant just ten minutes' walk away.

There is a local convenience store in the village, but no cash point.
